

Biography DOLF

When 'Fuck it All Up' was released in December 2016, DOLF immediately established himself as a producer of gloriously catchy bass music that contains pop sensibility and dancefloor thunder in equal measures. Over 4 million streams and numerous festival shows later, DOLF released his Nighttime EP this summer at the Barong Family imprint. Followed up with a brand new single co-starring Yellow Claw called "Vertigo", he opened their Los Amsterdam US-tour in the fall of 2017.

After road testing his new material while opening for Yellow Claw in Singapore in the spring, DOLF played shows in the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany and Spain throughout the summer. As much as the Nighttime EP showcased DOLF's heavy club side, it contained another proper song in the shape of 'If I Die', his collaboration with South Korea's DJ Soda.

The Dutch DJ/producer is determined to bring big vocals, heavy drops and catchy hooks to the dancefloor. Closing 2017 with his first shows in Indonesia and France, DOLF is back in the studio and finishing his new material in the studio.
